NATIONAL JUDICIAL CONDUCT AND DISABILITY LAW PROJECT, INC.

THE LAW PROJECT

The NJCDLP addresses a variety of Social Justice concerns, yet its overriding goal is to exalt America's judiciary while raising the world's consciousness of judicial misconduct; conduct that sometimes constitutes criminal activity (including intentional rights violations) and is inadequately checked by U.S. Domestic and international anti-corruption/accountability mechanisms – an oversight shortfall spread among all branches of American government and that has evolved into a constitutional and human rights crisis.

The NJCDLP is a grass roots organization that ambitiously functions as a think tank, public policy advocate, program administrator, community organizer, and non profit corporation via the following advocacy scheme:

Judicial Accountability

Legal Reform and Whistleblower Protection Advocacy

Human Rights Advocacy

Art Education, Prisoner Art, And Performing Arts
